

Culture Hosts Cedar Bark Weaving Class in Time for Valentine's Day

Georgia Makris shows off the cedar vase she made in Culture's recent weaving class

By Dr. Juanita Holtyn

With Valentine's Day right around the corner, on February 11, the Culture department hosted a cedar bark weaving tutorial taught by Melissa Streun.

Nine excited Tribal members participated. For many, this was their first time weaving with cedar bark. Each participant connected with S'Klallam artistry by learning a twill weaving pattern and a twining technique, which took thought and concentration. All of this hard work resulted in finished flower vases that were beautifully woven and ready to be gifted for Valentine's.

Cedar bark for the class was harvested from the Western Red Cedar tree. The whole tree is useful. Cedar is lovingly referred to as "Mother" or "Tree of Life" because it provides for people in unlimited ways from birth to death. The bark and roots of the cedar tree can be used to make baskets, while the leaves are used for medicine and incense. (Krohn, 2007)

Harvesting cedar is an age-old practice and is done in late spring to early summer when the tree sap is running, which makes it easier for the bark to be removed from the tree. Harvesting bark must be done sustainably as to not harm or kill the tree.

The Culture department will be hosting cedar bark harvesting classes soon. Watch for posted events!

Leslie Purser Named to Governor's Committee on Disability Issues & Employment

Leslie Purser, who has just been appointed to the Governor's Committee on Disability Issues & Employment

Leslie Purser has been appointed to Governor's Committee on Disability Issues & Employment (GCDE).

Since April 2022, Leslie has served as a Special Needs Advocate for the Port Gamble S'Klallam Tribe. In this role, she advocates for people with physical, emotional, and/or mental disabilities. This includes working with PGST programs to ensure inclusion as well as helping clients and/or caregivers access the resources and support they need, such as respite care and/or therapeutic services.

In her role on the GCDE, Leslie hopes to learn about programs or services she can utilize to help PGST families. "If I can find more opportunities offered by the state, that's what I want to do," she said.

GCDE is comprised of a wide range of disability advocates from across the state and seeks "an equitable Washington where people with disabilities experience full inclusion, full participation, and economic vibrancy." They are responsible for promoting understanding of the needs of those with disabilities, recognizing employers who act as leaders in hiring people with disabilities, and provide training to businesses to promote employment and awareness of disability issues. The group advises the Governor, the legislature, and state agencies to ensure equal opportunity and access.

Leslie understands the need for this type of advocacy. Before her work with PGST, she had first-hand experience trying to navigate the system as she helped care for her two younger brothers.

"When I was going through this with my brothers, we just didn't know where to find services," she said.

Leslie went on to add that one of her brothers "needed around-the-clock care and special therapies and we didn't know where to find them. We didn't know how to navigate the care plan or where to look for what we needed. I had to learn from parents and others who had been doing this longer than I had." In her role as Special Needs Advocate, Leslie helps to eliminate these barriers.

Leslie's term on the GCDE began on February 15, 2023 and continues through December 31, 2025.

Planning Gives Update in General Council Meeting

On February 28, the Planning department presented on its current and upcoming projects on a Special General Council Meeting held over Zoom.

During the meeting, Planning, which is headed up by Joe Sparr, reviewed their department goals for the next two years, including increasing on-reservation single family homes and updating and expanding government and community-wise facilities. To help accomplish these goals, they are working on improving the Tribe's construction process and procedures.

The department is also preparing plans for the use, preservation, and development of Tribal lands for lands where no such plans exist or further details are needed.

In 2022, Planning wrapped up several projects, including the completion of the south boat ramp. The project was not only a big win for the community, but also came in $800,000 under budget! Other completed 2022 projects include the Old Red Cedar neighborhood, transitional housing project, remodel of the old Wellness Center to house Courts, and the opening of the administration campus gathering shelter.

This year, the department is managing several projects, some of which are expected to be completed this year, including the Warrior Ridge sewer lift station in the spring, and the opening of the new fish hatchery building and Point Julia shelter mid-year.

In addition, Planning is working on several Tribal campus remodel projects for Natural Resources, Early Childhood Education, Elders, Public Safety, and Culture. Planning will begin soon on new Administration building, Community Center, Gym, and Plaza.

This meeting was the second in a series of Special General Council sessions highlighting the work of Tribal departments and entities. Additional upcoming meetings include with Noo-Kayet Investment (March 21), Finance (April 18), and Legal (May 16). All meetings are held at 5 pm and over Zoom.

ALL ENROLLED PGST MEMBERS:

Spring General Council is on March 25

The Spring General Council meeting will be held on Saturday, March 25. While details are still being worked out, this meeting will include a meal and raffle prizes for attendees.

All PGST members are encouraged to attend General Council meetings to receive updates and vote on important issues related to the operation of the Tribe.

The Fall General Council meeting is scheduled for Saturday, October 7.

March 21 @ 5 pm: Special General Council Meeting Featuring Noo-Kayet Investments

The next Special General Council Meeting is on Tuesday, March 21 at 5 pm over Zoom. This meeting will feature a presentation from Noo-Kayet Investments on the economic work they're doing on behalf of the Tribe. Please use the QR code below to access the Zoom details.

Additional upcoming Special General Council Meetings include April 18 with Finance and May 16 with Legal.

Seeking Clam Bake Cooks

PGST has built a positive reputation for hosting and feasting well with guests. The traditional clambake is one of the most admired features.

For the Canoe Hosting on July 27, 2023, event planners are seeking two teams of clam bake cooks. Your bid must include your contact information, how many people are in your team, and pricing to prepare one of the clambakes. Firewood and other supplies will be provided.

Please submit your letter of interest and bid to jodif@pgst.nsn.us or to the front desk by July 7, 2023.

After Hours On-Call Triage Nurse, Weekend Urgent Care Now Available

The Health Center now offers access to an After Hours/On Call triage nurse from 4:30-8:30 pm daily. Use the On-Call nurse for more urgent health concerns that can't wait until regular Health Center hours. You can reach the On-Call nurse at 360-297-9613.

The Health Center is also now offering Urgent Care on Saturdays from 9 am to 5 pm. Walk-in appointments available. As always, if you have an emergency concern please call 9-1-1.

The Health Center is regularly open from 8 am to 4:30 pm, Monday thru Friday. They are closed between 12-1 pm for lunch.

Construction Continues on Ascension Grow Facility

Noo-Kayet Investments wants to thank all the Tribal members for their support and help in keeping traffic down at the construction sites for the new Ascension grow facility and at the High Point retail store.

The roof and exterior walls on the Ascension building is being installed by the end of the month. At the High Point site, the foundation is done and panelized walls are going up.

NKI is proud of the progress being made on these construction projects on behalf of the Tribe and will continue to share progress as everything moves forward.

Upcoming Civil Legal Aid Clinics

The PGST Legal department is continuing to offer free Civil Legal Aid services to its community members.

Upcoming Civil Legal Aid Clinic dates include: March 10, and March 24. All clinics are from 10 am to noon at the Tribal Courthouse in the old Wellness Center building.

The Civil Legal Aid attorney is Paul Cullen, a practicing attorney with over 46 years experience in family law, wills, personal injury, and more. To schedule an appointment during or outside open clinics, please call 360-297-6209 ext. 5503.

Reading Recommendations

Heart Berries: A Memoir by Terese Marie Mailhot (Seabird Island Band, Canadian First Nations): Facing a dual diagnosis of PTSD and bipolar disorder, Mailhot is given a notebook and begins to write her way out of trauma. This powerful, poetic memoir is the triumphant result: a memorial for Mailhot's mother; a story of reconciliation with her father; and an elegy on how difficult it is to love someone while dragging the long shadows of shame. As she writes, she discovers her own true voice and re-establishes her place in the world. (Nonfiction • Book • 2018)

The Seed Keeper by Diane Wilson (Dakota-Mdewakanton): Rosalie Iron Wing returns to her childhood home to confront the past, on a search for family and a community where she can finally belong. In the process, she learns what it means to be descended from women with souls of iron - women who have protected their families, their traditions, and a precious cache of seeds through war and the insidious trauma of boarding schools. It is a beautifully told story of remembering our original relationship to the seeds, and our ancestors. (Fiction • Book • 2021)
